WILKES' BOOTH'S DIARY.

Under the title of "The Diary of John Wilkes Booth," a volume has been published, which contains a full and complete account of the life and doings of the assassin of President Lincoln. The diary is written in a simple, straightforward manner, and is full of interesting details. It is a valuable addition to the history of the Civil War, and is well worth reading.

The diary is divided into two parts: the first part contains the diary of John Wilkes Booth, and the second part contains the diary of his brother, Edwin Booth. The diary of John Wilkes Booth is written in a simple, straightforward manner, and is full of interesting details. It is a valuable addition to the history of the Civil War, and is well worth reading.

The diary of Edwin Booth is written in a more detailed and literary manner, and is full of interesting details. It is a valuable addition to the history of the Civil War, and is well worth reading.

OUR NEW STATE.

Now that Confederation is as good as accomplished, it is useless any longer to discuss whether that measure was desirable or necessary. Upon these points there were various shades of opinion, all of which required to be explained and considered. But the time for such discussion is past, and all will be ready to admit that if there were many difficulties in the way of the proposed change, there would be many more difficulties in continuing as we were.

Neither is it any use to discuss the terms upon which Confederation has been arranged. It is notorious that Upper Canada, which contains nearly half of the whole population of the Confederate Province, and probably a full half of the wealth, has been treated with a very unequal hand. The grounds of a new Confederation are, therefore, to be considered in a different light.

The great thing now is to lay aside all past animosities and heart-burnings, accept the situation as it stands, and make the best of it. The people of every province have a right to feel that they are now united, and that they are now free to do as they please.

REPEAL OF RECIPROCITY.

The following editorial article appeared in the New York World of Friday, in reference to one of the many changes which have followed the repeal of the Reciprocity Treaty:

"In the last monthly report of the Bureau of Statistics, Mr. Warren, the United States Commissioner, has given a full and complete account of the trade between the United States and Canada. In 1865, the trade between the United States and Canada was valued at $100,000,000. In 1866, it was valued at $110,000,000. In 1867, it was valued at $120,000,000. This shows a steady increase in the trade between the United States and Canada, and is a proof of the success of the Reciprocity Treaty.

The following are the details of the trade between the United States and Canada in 1867:

From the United States in 1867.	To the United States in 1867.
Woolen Goods, $1,000,000	Woolen Goods, $1,000,000

FORMAL OPENING OF THE PARIS EXPOSITION.

The great Paris Exposition, which was formally opened on Monday, the 1st of April, has been a great success. The day was a fine one, and the weather was perfect. The Exposition was opened by the Emperor, who was accompanied by the Empress and the Prince Imperial. The Emperor made a speech, in which he expressed his confidence in the success of the Exposition, and his belief in the progress of the human race.

The Exposition was a great success, and it was a great pleasure to see the Emperor and the Empress at the opening. The Exposition was a great success, and it was a great pleasure to see the Emperor and the Empress at the opening.

THE GREAT FLOODS IN THE WEST.

The great floods in the West, which have been so disastrous to the people of that region, are now subsiding. The water has receded, and the people are beginning to return to their homes. The floods were a great disaster, and they have caused a great deal of loss of life and property. But now that the water has receded, the people are beginning to return to their homes, and the country is beginning to recover.

CHARITY ABROAD.—It is a singular fact that a benevolent association in Boston has just despatched thousands of garments for the destitute people of China, India, and elsewhere, in New York, and all over the South, in quite as destitute a condition as the people of China. But this is not the only of beginning to bestow charity abroad, it is not confined to Boston. It may be met with in all the American cities, and all over the world. It may be met in the most distinguished characteristics of the Anglo-Saxon race, that they overlook the nearest objects of charity at home, and extend their sympathy to the remotest borders of civilization.

THE SHELBY (Ind.) Courier relates an amusing incident which occurred in a neighboring village. An organ had been purchased by a congregation, which played 40 times. The organ had instructions how to set it going and how to stop it, but unfortunately he forgot the latter part of his business, and after playing the first four verses of hymns before the sermon, the organ could not be stopped, and continued playing two verses more, just as the clergyman was about to deliver his sermon, "let us pray," the organ again started and played two verses more. The organist, who was a young man, was very much embarrassed, and after playing the first four verses of hymns before the sermon, the organ could not be stopped, and continued playing two verses more, just as the clergyman was about to deliver his sermon, "let us pray," the organ again started and played two verses more.

Special Notice.—The receipt of grain is small, but still sufficient to establish quantities, and there are ready buyers for all offerings.

FALL WHEAT.—None better wheat—small deliveries at $1.10, 1.20, 1.30, 1.40, 1.50, 1.60, 1.70, 1.80, 1.90, 2.00, 2.10, 2.20, 2.30, 2.40, 2.50, 2.60, 2.70, 2.80, 2.90, 3.00, 3.10, 3.20, 3.30, 3.40,
